

Reading Comprehension: (40 points)

الامتحان في خمس صفحات

Question Number One: (25 points)

Read the text carefully. Then complete the questions below:

It isn't hard to explain why parents, teachers, and older people in general get so concerned about the negative effects of young people's use of communications technology. They may be motivated by a wish to protect their children from harm or to control them, but throughout history older generations have always tried to put limits on the behavior of the young. The only difference now is that the internet is such a powerful force, and older people generally don't really understand this new world of social media and instant communication, so they're unable to control it. And the situation is changing so fast that the gap in their knowledge is widening all the time.

In a similar way, governments, even in democratic countries, like to put limits on people's behavior. After all, it's a large part of what governments are about. They may have more technological knowledge than the average parents, but the spread of social media sites and communications apps like Twitter and WhatsApp is making it harder for them to control what their citizens are saying and doing. Clearly, this isn't always a positive trend, but what we can say for sure is that new information and communications technologies are a force for social change and economic development, especially in poorer countries without a reliable traditional phone network. The World Bank has calculated that in countries like this, a 10% increase in high-speed Internet connections leads to a 1.3% increase in economic growth. It is, they say, 'the single most powerful way to extend economic opportunities and services to millions of people, especially in remote areas'.

A: Answer the following questions:

Question Number Two: (15 points)Read the following passage then answer the questions below:

The study of history provides many benefits. First, we learn from the past. We may repeat mistakes, but we have the opportunity to avoid them. Second, history teaches us what questions to ask about the present. Contrary to some people's views, the study of history is not the memorization of names, dates, and places. It is the thoughtful examination of the forces that have shaped the courses of human life. We can examine events from the past and then draw conclusions about current events. Another benefit of the study of history is the wide range of human experience which is covered. War and peace are certainly cover as national and international affairs. However, matters of culture (art, literature and music) are also included in historical studies. Human nature is an important part of history: emotions like passion, greed and insecurity have influenced the shaping of world affairs. Anyone who thinks that the study of history is boring has not really studied history.
